Record of Communication with Bernie Noonan, Burlington Northern Railroad,
September 28, 1984

I asked Bernie if sand bags had been placed between the swamp and the lake. He responded that he hadn't done so because a recent storm had washed sand up between the swamp and the lake and the width of the beach between the two was now about eight feet.

I asked Bernie if he planned to do any pumping at the swamp. He said no, that a plant employee tried pumping the creosote but was unsuccessful due to the advent of cold weather. He said BN may try digging the creosote out, but he was unsure whether that would be successful either, and said he may have to wait for warmer spring weather to do anything. I asked Bernie to notify me if he decides to dig out the creosote, and he responded that he would.

Bernie also said that he was being transferred in the next month to Fort Worth, Texas, and his phone number there would be (817) 878-3029. He is being replaced by Mr. Mel Burda.
